REMARKABLE METHODS APPLIED TO THE ANTI-CARTOON BILL.

IT HAS BEEN TAKEN AWAY FROM THE COMMIT-TEE THAT AMENDED IT AND CHANGED BY THE RULES COMMITTEE-BIT-

TER FIGHT AHEAD.

Albany, April 16 (Special).-The Anti-Cartoon bill Senator Ellsworth has been considered by Rules Committee of the Assembly, and will be reported in much the same form as when it was passed by the Senate. The General Laws Committee of the Assembly amended the measure radically. Senator Ellsworth was indignant, and induced Speaker O'Grady to hold back the report of the General Laws Committee, and when it was determined by this committee to introduce the report in spite of Mr. O'Grady and Mr. Ellsworth. the Speaker last night called on Assemblyman Mc-Keown to object to the reception of the report. This single objection would ordinarily carry the bill to the Committee on Rules, but Speaker O'Grady to-day made a ruling that no bills would be considered by the Rules Committee except on the written request of a member.

As this rule applied to the Anti-Cartoon bill, a request for the change of reference of this measure was drawn up, and Assemblyman Dudley, of Niagara, a man subject to Elisworth's influence, was sent for and told to sign the request. He did this, and his request sent the bill to the Rules Committee in the same form as it passed the Senate and went to the Committee on General Laws.
The members of the Committee on Rules are the Speaker and Messrs. Nixon, Kelsey, Armstrong, Finn and Kelly.

Speaker O'Grady called together his fellow-mem bers of the Committee on Rules this evening, and with them put the Anti-Cartoon bill in a much more severe shape as a press-muzzling measure. Its mild form as it left the hands of the Committee on General Laws disappeared. Mr. O'Grady and his associates took the Senate bill of Senator Ellsworth as their basis for action. They provided that the magistrate before whom an editor is con-victed may inflict imprisonment on him for not less than one year, and also fine him not less

The Rules Committee amended the Ellsworth bill so as to exempt the circulators of papers from its provisions, to allow the printing of portraits of public officers or persons nominated for public office, and to give the courts option as to the inflicof the fine or the imprisonment. The text of the bill as it now stands follows:

the bill as it now stands follows:
Section 1. No person, firm, partnership, corporation or voluntary association shall print or publish in any newspaper, paper, periodical, magazine, pamphlet or book any portrait or alleged portrait of any person or individual living in this State, except public officers, persons nominated for public office or fugitives from justice, without having first obtained his or her written consent to such printing or publication, and in the case of a public officer such portrait or alleged portrait shall relate to such public officer only in his official capacity.

pacity.

Sec. 2. The printing or publishing of the portrait or alleged portrait of such person or individual without such consent in writing shall be a misdemeanor and shall be punishable by a fine not less than $1.000, or by imprisonment for not less than one year, upon the complaint of the person whose portrait or alleged portrait has been printed or published without such consent or of her or his attorney.

his attorney. Sec. 3. This act shall take effect immediately. The Committee on Rules has absolutely auto-cratic power over all the bills now before the Ascratic power over all the bills now before the Assembly, and its certification is necessary before any bill can go on the calendar for final passage. It held a four-hour session this afternoon and considered something like two hundred bills, from among which it selected sixty, which will be put on the calendar for Monday night. Those of the sixty which were amended will be printed and put on the files to-morrow, thus carrying out the intent of the Saturday session to gain an extra legislative day.

of the Saturday lative day. The committee decided to report favorably the bill which passed the Senate providing for a re-duction of five cents a year in the price of gas in New-York City until it shall have reached $1. The action of Speaker O'Grady in refusing to receive the report of a regular committee has not increased his popularity, and will not tend to secure votes for the passage of Mr. Ellsworth's hobby Many of the members to-day denounced the action of the Speaker, and stated that they would now oppose the bill more vigorously than if it had been presented to the House for action on its merits.

THE CRIME OF DYING RICH.

SENATORS DISCUSS THE LATEST SCHEME TO MAKE BIG ESTATES PAY LARGE TAXES.

Albany, April 16 (Special).-The Senate considered for the first time to-day Assemblyman Dudley's bill imposing a graduated inheritance tax. The bill was drawn up by Controller Roberts on the lines indicated in his last annual report, and was then presented to the Assembly by Mr. Dudley, of Niagara County. It passed the Assembly by a large Senator Higgins opened the debate on the meas-

Senator Higgins opened the debate on the measure by an exposition of its features. In comparison with the present Inhesitance Tax law of the State, he said, it only increased the tax when the estate, if descending to lineal heirs, was above $1,600,000 in value, and when the estate, if going to collateral below. heirs, was above $250,000 in value. It was an in-crease of the tax only on large estates. Many countries of Europe had such taxes, and it was Senator Cantor attacked the bill as another part of a general plot of the several members of the Legislature to compel the cities to pay the chief part of the expenses of the State.

Senator McCarren suggested that the bill be considered another day, which led Senator Lexow to move that it be reported favorably from the Committee of the Whole. This motion was defeated by a vote of 16 to 13. Senator Mullin said the bill ought not to be advanced without thorough consideration.

Senator Mullin introduced a substitute for the Senator Appropriation bill. The appropriation of $1,250,000 is left in the new bill, but only $50,000 is made available this year, the remaining $450,000 being made available on February 1 next year. It was ordered to a third reading.

COMPOUND. CELERY

Best Spring Remedy in the World---It Makes People Well.

There is one true specific for diseases arising from a debilitated nervous system, and that is Paine's celery compound, so generally prescribed by physicians. It is probably the most remarkable remedy that the scientific research of this country has produced. Prof. Edward E. Phelps, M. D., LL. D., of Dartmouth college, first prescribed what is now known the world over as Paine's celery compound, a positive cure for dyspepsia, biliousness, liver complaint, neuralgia, rheumatism, all nervous diseases and kidney troubles. For the latter Paine's celery compound has succeeded again and again where everything else has falled.

The medical journals of this country have given more space in the last few years to the many remarkable cases where the use of Paine's celery compound has made people well than

A PLEA FOR THE PARSHALL BILL.

EX-MAYOR HEWITT ASKS THE GOVERNOR TO URGE IT ON THE LEGISLATURE.

Albany, April 16 (Special).-The failure to report the Parshall bill by the Senate Canals Committee, thus withholding from the Legislature an oppor-tunity to determine the policy of the State in re-lation to restriction of canal commerce, has provoked numerous protests in the shape of telegrams and communications from various parts of the country. Among these is the following letter from ex-Mayor Abram S. Hewitt to the Governor;

New-York, April 15, 1897.

His Excellency, the Governor of the State of New-

New-York. April 15, 1897.

His Excellency, the Governor of the State of New-York

Sir: I learn from the newspapers that the Canals Committee of the Senate, as well as that of the Assembly, has declined to report an amendment, known as the Wieman-Parshall bill, permitting canal companies engaged in interstate commerce to organize with a capitalization greater than $60,000. I know of no reason in public policy why companies engaged in canal commerce should be limited to a capital of $60,000 unless the intention be to cripple the business of the canals.

In view of the expenditure of $9,000,000 now going forward for the enlargement of the canals of the State, this restriction seems most unfortunate, because if it be allowed to exist no adequate preparation for the equipment and terminals required for the enlarged business can be made. The revival of canal commerce is essential to this port; if it is to regain and retain the commercial supremacy which it has enjoyed for more than half a century. I therefore feel it my duity to call your attention to the calamity which will result from the faiture of the Legislature to remove the restriction enacted last year, evidently without much consideration, and to urge upon you that the question should be fairly presented to the Legislature whether or not this restriction should be continued. It is certainly most unfortunate that a majority of the committees have declined to act in a matter of such momentous concern to the State in regard to its free waterways, and to continue a policy which, if persisted in, will restrict within limits so narrow as to be practically prolinibirry the efforts of corporations to develop the great afteries of commerce which the State has provided, and which it is now enlarging in order to preserve the paramount position of the city of New-York.

The four great commercial bodies of this city, it is difficult to believe that there is not a decided majority in the legislature, not merely in favor of the resecond in governor of the canals of this St

I trust, therefore, that you will see your way clear to call the attention of the Legislature to this important subject, so as, if possible, to remove at an early day the fetters which restrict the commerce and prevent the preparation for the the commerce and prevent the preparation for the centarged business which ought to be done upon the entarged business which ought to be done upon the canals, unless the best interests of the State and canals, unless the best interests of the State and canals, unless the best interests of the honor to the city of New-York are to be sacrificed to mere selfish considerations.
